2. Warenproduktion is the total of products produced for sale by an enterprise during a given accounting period. This production includes not only products of the usual character but also other production for which money is obtained, such as repairs carried out for other enterprises, subcontract work (Lohnarbeit), semi-finished products, etc. Warenproduktion is usually but not always expressed in factory sales prices.

3. Bruttoproduktion is the total of all products produced whether for sale or for use by the enterprise.
